KARGA 7 Pictures Announces Major Executive Postings in both Los Angeles and Istanbul

Premiere television Production Company cements its presence
In both US and Turkey, creating unique and timely perspective

Los Angeles, CA January 19, 2017—Karga Seven Pictures, the Los Angeles-based production company specializing in non-fiction television, feature film and commercials, announced major creative executive promotions today.

The move puts four long-time Karga Seven Pictures team members, Jason Wolf, Clint Lealos, Jeff Daniels and Scott Hunter, in top creative positions at the multi-national company, based in both the US and Turkey, and sees the return of Former EVP of Development, Todd Cohen, to spearhead the new Istanbul office.

Executive Producer / Showrunner of the History Channel show, “Hunting Hitler”, Jason Wolf moves into the newly created role of VP/Head of Programming. Reporting directly to Karga Seven Pictures Principals Emre Sahin, Kelly McPherson and Sarah Wetherbee, Wolf will oversee all current programming.

“Jason is one of those producers who immediately fit into the Karga creative team, said Sarah Wetherbee. “His passion, creative vision and ability to collaborate as well as oversee a diverse slate, make him instrumental to our team. Jason’s aesthetic and storytelling-sense will have him playing an key role as Karga grows”.

Visuals Director Clint Lealos will add a second title to his name: Lealos has been tapped as Creative Director as well as Visuals Director. Instrumental from the inception of Karga Seven in shaping its visual style and identity, Lealos continues to work between Los Angeles and Istanbul, branding his unique, cross-culturally informed visuals to the Karga Seven style.

Lealos will split duties across Karga Seven shows with Jeff Daniels, who has moved into his new role as Creative Director. Formerly Staff Director/DP and Editor, Daniels most recent work has been seen on Karga Seven Pictures hit shows, “Hunting Hitler” and “Booze Traveler”. Manager of Development Scott Hunter has been upped to Director of Development.

“Clint, Jeff and Scott have repeatedly proven themselves to be invaluable as part of the core Karga creative group,” said Emre Sahin. “We’re lucky to have such a talented and dedicated bunch.”

Former EVP of Development, Todd Cohen has returned as Chief Creative Officer for Karga Seven Turkey. Cohen will be based in Istanbul.

“As EVP of Development, Todd played a big role in Karga’s continued growth over the last several years”, said Karga Seven Pictures Partner, Tracy Bacal. “We’re excited to see him bring that same drive and creativity to developing innovative new content for the Turkish and international markets. It’s a great fit.”
